Two years ago the Porto Ricans were cheering the U. S. flag and now they are wondering what in the mischief they were cheering for.

It is estimated that the Spanish immigration into Cuba this month will reach 12,000. Perhaps they think they own they island yet.

Republican spell-binders like Senator Beveridge rather strain things when they say that labor organizations are "trusts." That's the kind of trusts they are opposed to.

Ex-President Harrison will vote for McKinley, not because he likes him, or his policies, but because he doesn't like to kick out of the traces and vote for Bryan.

Hanna observes that political "apathy" is disappearing in New York. With the Democratic prodding on one side and Hanna's boodle on the other, the lethargic Republicans are waking up.

There is a Doctor at Elkhart, Ind., who bears such a striking resemblance to Wm. J. Bryan that he is often mistaken for him and sometimes when travelling finds himself receiving an ovation intended for the other gentleman. As the Dr. is an enthusiastic Bryan man himself he does the best he can to reciprocate.

Consul General Wildman, of Hong Kong, rises to deny that Admiral Dewey promised the Filipinos independence. It seems to us we have heard this before, but the State Department is sending it out again for campaign use. Dewey denies that he promised them independence, but he admits that he treated them as "allies" to "make use of them."

Mr. Wu Ting Fang, Chinese Minister in Washington, is much taken with the public libraries in this country, and hopes that some rich man in China, like Li Hung Chang, may establish some in his country. Li isn't that sort of a fellow. He would be more apt to cart off what he took a fancy to in the libraries after they had been established, and put his mark on it.

WADDELL'S FRIENDS.

Meeting of Committee Last Night to Further His Candidacy for the Senate.

SUB-COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Emphasis Upon Necessity for Immediate and Concerted Action--Each Branch of Campaign Placed in Hands of Loyal Workers.

The friends in Wilmington of Col. A. M. Waddell are leaving no stone unturned in their canvass for his success as a candidate for the United States Senate before the primary to be held November 6th.

Another meeting was held last night in the Mayor's office at the City Hall and further committees were named to have in charge Col. Waddell's campaign in New Hanover county. It was strictly a ward committee meeting of the Waddell Democratic Club, but other friends of the candidate whom New Hanover will present were present and took part in the deliberations which were presided over by Mr. J. C. Stevenson. Mr. T. W. Clawson was secretary and committeemen in attendance were as follows:

First Ward—J. M. Woolard, Capt. John Barry, Martin Rathjen.

Second Ward—Martin O'Brien, G. J. Boney.

Third Ward—E. S. Lathrop, C. W. Yates.

Fourth Ward—Jos. H. Watters.

Fifth Ward—J. M. McGowan, B. F. King.

None of the county precincts were represented, as the time of meeting forbade. The canvass has, however, been inaugurated in the country and is doing well.

Mr. Stevenson stated the object of the gathering and called for views of those present, which were freely given and conditions informally discussed.

Upon motion of Mr. E. S. Lathrop, the following sub-committees were named to take in charge the campaign and further Col. Waddell's interests:

Steering Committee—G. J. Boney (chairman), E. S. Lathrop, C. W. Yates, Jos. H. Watters, J. C. Stevenson.

Committee on Literature—W. F. Robertson (chairman), J. C. Stevenson, J. M. McGowan, B. F. King, W. H. Biddle, C. W. Yates, C. W. Worth, E. S. Lathrop.

Committee on Finance—J. G. L. Gieschen (chairman), M. Rathjen, C. W. Worth, C. W. Yates, M. O'Brien, J. H. Watters, W. H. Biddle, B. F. King.

County Organization Committee—Col. Walker Taylor (chairman), Capt. Jno. Barry, M. O'Brien, Jno. Sheehan, J. M. McGowan, C. H. Alexander, R. O. Grant, G. W. Westbrook, R. W. Bordeaux, J. T. Kerr, T. J. Belcher, D. J. Fergus, B. S. Montford, James Walton, E. H. Freeman, J. B. Brinkley, W. H. Biddle, J. M. Woolard and G. J. Boney.

The duties of the various committees were defined and the importance of immediate work emphasized. The Steering Committee is to have the general direction of Col. Waddell's candidacy in the county; the Committee on Literature is to devote itself to the preparation and distribution of printed matter favorable to Col. Waddell and all matters akin; the Finance Committee obviously has in charge the matter of finance and the collection and distribution of funds necessary to a successful campaign; the County Organization Committee is, of course, to see that everywhere in the county the friends of Col. Waddell are in ranks to make the vote unanimous.

The meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock until Monday night unless sooner called together by the president. The various committees are, of course, expected to meet earlier and formulate plans in accordance with instructions given.

TALKING FOOT BALL.

Game May Be Arranged With Wilson. Wilmington Team Will Organize.

Mr. James Sinclair, who returned from a short trip up the W. & W. road Sunday night, succeeded in making arrangements with Wilson for a game of foot ball. Although the date has not been agreed upon, he says the "Sports" in Wilson are very enthusiastic over the prospects of their team. They have some excellent material and will no doubt put a formidable eleven on the gridiron. The Wilson boys are anxious for a game with Wilmington and they can get it.

There is a strong probability that the Wilmington team will be formed the latter part of this week. Every member, who is in the city, of last year's team is ready to re-organize and with the material in view, Wilmington can put out a team second to no town eleven in the State. A meeting of those interested will be called in a few days.

The Tileston Athletic Association eleven is developing rapidly in team work and all round playing.

Married Sunday Evening.

The marriage of Mr. Ed. B. Burkheimer, inspector for the Bell Telephone Company, to Miss Emma Lee Piver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Piver, was solemnized Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at 607 Castle street. Rev. Robt. Strange, D. D., was the officiating clergyman. Only a few of the friends of the contracting parties were present, but the occasion was appropriately celebrated. The bride and groom received many good wishes.

BEER SALOON RAIDED.

Sheriff MacRae and Two Deputies Made a Raid Sunday Afternoon on Turnpike—Trial Thursday.

Late Sunday afternoon Sheriff MacRae and Deputies Millis and Daniels made a haul of a beer shop which is located on the turnpike, about one mile east of Delgado Mills, and Clarence Bonham, the proprietor, will be tried Thursday morning at 10 o'clock before J. J. Fowler, J. P., on the charge of selling intoxicating drinks on Sunday.

There has been much complaint of late of rowdyism and drunkenness on the turnpike on Sundays and it is said that much of it is due to the drinking of beer. Sheriff MacRae went down to investigate the situation himself last Sunday and when he got to Bonham's place he sent the deputies in to see if they could buy beer there and when it was being served the sheriff came upon the scene and made the arrest. A number of persons in the vicinity of the shop were summoned as witnesses.

Mr. Bonham will be represented by Herbert McClammy, Esq. Section 1117 of the Code says, "If any person shall sell spirituous or malt or other intoxicating liquors on Sunday, except on the prescription of a physician, and then only for medical purposes, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by fine or imprisonment or both, in the discretion of the court." It will likely be claimed that the beer sold was rice beer and that this is not intoxicating.

PASSED A DERELICT.

Capt. Griffin, of the Schooner Golden Ball, Reports Wreck Off Frying Pan—Tug Jones Gone in Search of Her.

Capt. Griffin, of the schooner Golden Ball, which arrived in port yesterday morning, reports having passed Sunday morning at 9 o'clock a submerged derelict about 5 miles south by west half west of Frying Pan Lightship. His vessel came quite near to the wreckage, but he was unable to distinguish what name she bore, but says that her length appeared to be 150 or more feet. There were, of course, no signs of life aboard, as Capt. Griffin says there was but little of the wreck above the surface of the water. Upon arriving at Southport Sunday he reported the discovery with the result that yesterday morning at 10 o'clock the Wilmington tug, Alexander Jones, Capt. Pinner, started in search of the derelict. Late yesterday afternoon she had not returned.

The wreckage is supposed to be that of the barge Edith Howes, laden with 380,000 feet of lumber from Charleston for New York. During a heavy northeast gale on the 9th inst. she broke loose twice from the tug William S. McCauley, became water-logged and had to be abandoned 50 miles N. E. of Frying Pan Lightship. The crew was rescued at the time.

RICHARD CASWELL HERE.

Government's New Tug Arrived Yesterday Morning—Permanent Duty.

The Richard Caswell, the new steel tug boat recent constructed for the U. S. Engineer's department at Wilmington by the Columbian Iron Works, of Baltimore, arrived in port yesterday morning about 10 o'clock and is here for permanent duty.

The new tug was finished and started on its southward journey Thursday, 5th inst. She reached Elizabeth City and was there delivered to an officer for the Wilmington Department. She left Elizabeth City last Friday and reached Ocracoke on Saturday morning. Sunday night she arrived at Southport and came up yesterday morning as stated. Capt. Thomas R. Lewis is in charge and Richard Lawrence and John Boyd are in the engine room.

The Richard Caswell is a fine steel tug, 80 feet long and 20 feet beam. She is driven by a fore and aft compound engine, with cylinders 14 and 28 inches in diameter and with a piston stroke of 22 inches.

The boat has neat accommodations for the crew and officers and a large space below decks aft can be utilized for store-rooms or converted into living apartments.

MR. FRANK DEVEREUX DEAD.

Found in the Road Near Barnwell, S. C. Heart Disease the Cause.

News has reached here of the death of Mr. Frank H. Devereux, who was found dead in the road near Barnwell, S. C., his home, last Wednesday night. Mr. Devereux was in the employ of Brown & Co., cross tie dealers, and was located in Wilmington for six or eight months. He was a popular young man and during his stay in Wilmington formed many pleasant friendships. Heart disease was pronounced as the cause of his death. He was about 33 years of age.

Capt. E. G. Parmele, chief of police, yesterday received a postal card from Mayor A. M. Waddell, who is with Mrs. Waddell at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, saying that he would return to the city the last of the present week. Mrs. Waddell, he wrote, was much improved and an operation was declared by the physicians as unnecessary. She is, however, undergoing treatment and her numerous friends in Wilmington hope for her an early restoration.

Gore, Jr., Robert Ruark and other Wilmington attorneys, went down to Southport on the steamer Wilmington yesterday to attend the Fall session of Brunswick Superior Court. May Meet To-day.

There will probably be held to-day a meeting of the Democratic County Executive Committee for the purpose of appointing poll holders for the Senatorial primary next month. Chairman Johnson was authority for this statement last night. The plan as outlined by the State committee, requiring the poll holders to be of different persuasions as the candidates to be voted for, has caused some delay as the County Committee was unprepared early in the campaign to distinguist between the followers of the various candidates.

A Shoe Store Change.

Mr. J. B. Clement, who for the past five years has been head salesman in the shoe store of Mr. W. C. VonGlahn on South Front, has resigned that position, taking effect at once, and will travel for a Boston shoe house. He is succeeded by Mr. George Faison, who was formerly with Messrs. Mercer & Evans and who is a salesman of no mean ability and of long experience in the shoe and leather trade. Mr. Clement is also widely experienced in the line and will command a large business for his new house.

Mr. Fremont Injured.

Friends and acquaintances in the city learned with regret yesterday of a very serious accident which befel Mr. F. M. Fremont, of New York, formerly of this city and a son of the late Col. S. L. Fremont, who was at one time General Superintendent of the W. & W. Railroad and later an official of the Carolina Central Company. Mr. Fremont in boarding a car in New York last week slipped and fell under the trucks of the car, receiving such severe wounds as to make amputation of one of his legs necessary.

BELLAMY AND DOWD

Conducting a Splendid Campaign in the Shoe String District for Democracy.

AT SOUTHPORT LAST NIGHT.

Mr. Bellamy's Trip Up the Carolina Central Railroad Was Very Successful. The Speaking Here To-morrow Night--Big Crowd Expected.

Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy, Congressman from the Sixth District, and Hon. W. C. Dowd, of Charlotte, elector for the same, are doing some splendid work just now in the territory assigned to them by the State Committee and they are doing much in counties they have visited toward relieving the apathy which was so generally complained of during the early part of the campaign and which was attributed by many to the separation of the State from the National election. Be this as it may, Mr. Bellamy and Mr. Dowd are awakening the old time enthusiasm of the Sixth District and are making an able canvass. Both gentlemen are confining themselves to national issues solely and their splendid discussions are being heard by large crowds.

Mr. Bellamy returned Sunday from a week's work in the upper counties, beginning at Lumberton Monday and ending at Laurinburg Saturday. The people have not forgotten him for his phenomenal canvass in 1898 and his appearance and masterful discussions of the issues at stake always win for him a respectful and enthusiastic hearing. The people generally regard Col. Dockery's candidacy, says Mr. Bellamy, as a clever dodge on the part of the Republicans to give him a hand in the distribution of Federal patronage in the event of McKinley's election and not as a nomination with any show of election. Others appear to question the method of nomination by the executive committee and are of the opinion that the Republicans of the district do not themselves regard the action seriously.

Mr. Bellamy will make another trip up the district next week, speaking at Monroe on the 24th; Marshville, 25th; Lilesville, 27th; Wadesboro, 29th; Charlotte, 30th; Huntersville, 31st; Pineville, November 1st; Hamlet, 3rd; Rockingham, 5th.

Last night Mr. Bellamy and Mr. Dowd spoke to a large crowd in the Court House in Southport, the Superior Court having convened there yesterday morning. To-morrow Mr. Bellamy will speak at Shallotte and at Pireway, in Columbus county, on Saturday.

Mr. Dowd arrived yesterday from his home at Charlotte after a week's canvass in Columbus and Robeson counties. He went down to Southport in the afternoon on a private boat and spoke with Mr. Bellamy there last night, as stated. He will return to the city to-day and speak at Burgaw, Pender county. On to-morrow night Mr. Dowd will address the citizens of Wilmington in the Court House and Chairman Johnson, in another column, addresses a personal appeal to the Democrats of the city to hear him. The Bryan and Stevenson Clubs are especially invited to attend the meeting in a body. Mr. Dowd's appointments, after leaving Wilmington, are as follows:

Columbus County—Whiteville, Oct. 18th.
Scotland—Laurinburg, Oct. 23d.
Robeson—Maxton, Oct. 24th.
Richmond—Rockingham, Oct. 25th.
Anson—Wadesboro—Oct. 26th.
Union—Marshville, Oct. 27th.

Local committees in counties where appointments are made are expected make all necessary arrangements.

Mr. Dowd should receive an especially hearty welcome at the hands of Wilmington Democrats.

Cotton Gone Tumbling

The slump in cotton since Saturday on the New York market was the principal topic of conversation at the Produce Exchange yesterday, the decline reaching dangerously near half a cent per pound. Some sales on the local market were made early in the day as high as 9½ cents for middling, but the local closing at 4 o'clock was dull at 9¼ cents for middling. The receipts yesterday were 3,007 bales, against 2,057 on the same day last year. People are wondering if the price will ever reach ten cents again and the "twelve-and-a-half cent man" who was loudly and confidently predicting a few months ago is now very conspicuous for his silence.

Negro Attempted Suicide.

Mary Carter, a colored woman aged about 22 years, and well-known to the police as a denizen of the disreputable locality known as "Dross Neck," Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock attempted suicide by swallowing the contents of an ounce vial of laudanum. Dr. C. T. Harper, City Superintendent of Health, was summoned and gave her an emetic after which she was sent to the City Hospital in the patrol wagon from her home near the corner of Second and Brunswick streets.

A. C. L. Mileage Books.

The Atlantic Coast Line and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have made an agreement by which the former's mileage books will be honored for passage over the latter's line between Quantico and Washington. Heretofore the A. C. L. mileage books were not honored further than the end of the line. This arrangement will be of much convenience to the travelling public and will save no little trouble.

DIAMOND INVESTMENTS.

Letter from the Company Apparently Sets Itself Right and Shareholders Throw the Blame on Solicitors

Contract holders in the "Diamond Investment scheme" were disposed to be a little more lenient in their opinions toward the company yesterday and now most of the share holders lay the blame of their misconception at the door of Messrs. Ruffin and Jordan, the gentlemen who worked up the "chapter" in Wilmington.

The amount involved with Wilmington depositors is over $7,000 and not $3,000 as stated in Sunday's paper. The company which is at the head of the scheme is the Mutual Fidelity Company, of Baltimore, and Mr. Bellamy, the attorney in Baltimore to look after the interests of Wilmington people, it is learned, has advised payment of the current week's "dues" until he is heard from further.

A letter received from the treasurer of the company yesterday by a number of depositors anticipates a misunderstanding on the part of stockholders in Wilmington and expresses a fear that they have relied too much upon solicitor's representations and not upon the contract, which explicitly calls for 104 weeks. The letter also calls attention to a clause in the application for a contract which was signed by every shareholder, as follows:

"This application is made with full knowledge of all the provisions contained in said contract and said company shall not be held responsible for agents' statements at variance therewith."

Continuing, the letter says:

"The time of the contract calls for 104 weeks with a guarantee from this company to weekly throw out its redemption fund, redeeming as many contracts as that week have reached any of the maturity periods and those not paid run to the next maturity, twenty weeks in advance. To illustrate: If your contract was this week forty weeks old and was not reached for redemption, it would not be redeemed until the sixtieth week, as the next week it would be forty-one weeks old, and we have no redemption period of that number of weeks.

"Our business is based altogether upon estimates, depending upon the increase of business or lapsation to pay the persistent holders the profit promised. It is conservatively estimated by an actuary that no contract for the next two years will run beyond the forty-week redemption period."

MORE DEMOCRATS ARRESTED

Prominent Citizens of Johnston County Bound Over to the Federal Court on Trumped-Up Charges.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., October 15.—A number of prominent Democrats in Johnston county have been arrested and taken before Commissioner Barker, who is also the Republican county chairman, and were bound over to the Federal Court on a charge of intimidating voters in the last election. Among those arrested are some prominent lawyers, ex members of the Legislature and county officers.

The registrar cases set for trial in the Federal court at Statesville this week have been postponed till next term of court.

Improved Barrel Swing.

Mr. Edwin T. Pullen, of Burgaw, was in the city yesterday with a cut of his recent invention, an improved barrel swing. It is used in handling barrels, particularly when swinging them from and under a counter. It is a good invention, and is destined to become very popular. A patent has been applied for at the United States Patent Office in Washington. Mr. Pullen will go North this week to make arrangements for manufacturing his device.

ANSWERING THEMSELVES

There is scarcely a Republican expansionist of any note from President McKinley down, who is not on record in opposition to forcible expansion, and who does not stultify himself by defending it now. Two years ago President McKinley declared that forcible expansion would be "criminal aggression." In his "Life of Thomas Benton," Theodore Roosevelt wrote vigorously against it and declared that we wanted no colonies, no unwilling citizens, no subjects. Senator Hoar, in the Senate, denounced it in the strongest language he could command, as something without justification in law or morals. Ex-Senator Edmunds declared that we had no right in the Philippines, and no title to them, and that the war we are waging is, therefore, simply a war of conquest. Every Republican Senator who voted for Mr. McEnery's resolution virtually declared that he was opposed to forcible expansion, and that it was not the intention of this Government to hold the Philippines permanently or to incorporate their people into the citizenship of this country. They all then stood precisely where the Democratic party stands now on that question, and they are scolding Wm. J. Bryan and other Democrats for contending that they should be honest and consistent and live up to their declarations.

Hon. Chauncey M. Depew is one of the crack stumpers of the Republican party, who devotes much of his speeches to defending the McKinley methods of expansion and to trying to prove that that kind of expansion is all right and exactly what the fathers of the Republic would have done if they had been in Mr. McKinley's place, but he has to do some pretty hard swallowing when confronted with his views on that kind of expansion before the Republican administration started out on it. In an interview published in the Chicago Times-Herald, the Western organ of the administration, on May 22d, 1898, he thus gave his views on forcible expansion:

"If we should keep the Philippine Islands," said Mr. Depew, "we would reverse the traditions of this government from its foundation. We would open up a new line of policy. Let us see what that would mean. In the first place it would mean the establishment of a military government over possibly 10,000,000 of people 6,000 miles away from us; it would mean the increase of our navy to the proportion of the navies of Europe."

"But with the increase of our expenditures by 100 per cent. the taxes to support the Government would be felt in our homes and in our offices. We would feel them in both the necessaries and luxuries of life—in our homes, in our tools, in our food, in our clothing, in our carriages and in our wagons, in our checks and notes and bonds and transfers of property—in every transaction of our every-day business life. For if we are to maintain great armies and navies like the the powers of Europe we must raise the revenues for them by the means mentioned and also by a stamp tax that will face us at every turn.

"What else does a world-wide policy mean to us? It means a centralization which would change materially the relations of the United States to the Federal government. The control of these popular colonies would be centered at Washington and we should have a centralization of power far beyond what the old Federalists ever dreamed of. You cannot have empire without all its attributes, and that means a practical revolution of our form of government and an abandonment of the beliefs which the fathers held when they established this government in 1776."

The Republican statesmen had not then decided to keep the Philippines, but they were thinking about it, and were discussing among themselves whether it would "pay," as statesman Carter, of Montana, expressed it. Mr. Depew and the rest of them scout the idea of "imperialism" now; then Mr. Depew raised his voice against it and declared that to hold the Philippines and govern them as colonies would be the essence of the worst kind of imperialism, "a practical revolution in our form of government, and an abandonment of the beliefs which the fathers held when they established this government in 1776."

This is substantially what Wm. J. Bryan and other opponents of holding the Philippines now declare, and for this they are denounced as unpatriotic and "sympathizers with 'rebels' who are fighting against our flag," fighting for the very thing "the fathers who established this government in 1776" fought for—self-government.

The flimsy and hypocritical excuse for this reversal of themselves now given by the advocates of forcible expansion, or imperialism as Mr. Depew called it in 1898, is that by the purchase of the Philippines we assumed an obligation to hold them, and in addition to that the people are not capable of self-government and therefore it is our duty to govern them. But we had no right to purchase those islands from Spain, which had forfeited the right to rule and with it the right to sell, and we were, therefore, purchasing from an alleged owner, which had lost title, and could not give title. If title vested in anybody it was in the Filipinos, who had risen in revolution. If they had the right to rise in arms against Spanish rule, a right which every one of these expansionists acknowledge, and which this Government acknowledged when its army and navy co-operated with the revolutionists, they have the same right to rise in arms against the Americans, who are trying to assert supmacy over them and force American rule upon them. If aggression, oppression and outrage justify revolution, then they are more justified in fighting the armies of this country than they were in fighting against Spain, for we have destroyed more of their property in the two years we have been on the islands and killed more of their people than the Spaniards did in all the insurrections they fought to suppress.

They may or they may not be capable of self-government, but we are not to be the judges of that, any more than England was to be judge as to whether the American colonists who were in rebellion against British rule were competent for self-government. If they are not competent for self-government that is their matter and they will be the sufferers by the failure. We will be none the worse off if they fail, and we are under no moral or international obligation to take more interest in them then they take in themselves, and set ourselves up as their guardians when they declare they do not need our guardianship and protest against it with powder and shot. They could only be pronounced incompetent for self-government when they have had a chance to try and failed.

Mr. Depew evidently thought in 1898 that we were not called upon to run their government, and that is precisely what Wm. J. Bryan and other anti-expansionists and anti-imperialists think and declare now.

SENATOR HOAR AS A PROPHET.

In the Senate there was no more vigorous and apparently sincere opponent of the grab policy in the Philippines than Senator Hoar. His denunciation was so strong that the expansionists denounced him as an "Aguinaldo sympathizer," and charged him with giving aid and encouragement to the insurrection by his speeches. In fact they say that his speeches were cabled to the Filipino Junta at Hong Kong and were used to encourage the Filipinos to fight this country.

Of course there was nothing in this, for this was the charge they made against every man of prominence who opposed the grab policy. When they couldn't answer the arguments they resorted to misrepresentation and denunciation and cried "traitor," "copperhead," "Aguinaldo sympathizer," &c. From a simon-pure Republican Senator Hoar suddenly developed into all these in a surprisingly short time after he raised his voice against the policy of grab. But he isn't any of these now because he has swallowed his opposition and is supporting McKinley, who is committed to the perpetration of the infamy which, as a Senator, Hoar so strenuously opposed.

In his speech on April 12th last he thus ventured into the realm of prophecy:

"I believe, Mr. President, not only that perseverance in this policy will be the abandonment of the principles upon which our Government is founded, that it will change our Republic into an empire, that our methods of legistation, of diplomacy, of administration must hereafter be those which belong to empires, and not those which belong to republics; but I believe persistence in this attempt will result in the defeat and overthrow of the Republican party."

This was Senator Hoar's honest opinion then and it bears a striking resemblance to the declaration of Senator Depew in his interview published in the Chicago Times-Herald May 22, 1898, and yet they are both as Republican stumpers supporting McKinley and the policy which they solemnly said will lead to all this.

PLAYING WITH THE TRUSTS.

Hanna says there are no trusts,—they are all dead. Senator Depew says there are no trust—they are all dead—killed by the Sherman law; but Ex-Attorney-General Monnett, of Ohio, says that there have been in the 76 Federal judicial districts of this country only thirteen prosecutions instituted under that law, and but three of these under this administration, notwithstanding all the anti-trust talk. But of there were no such thing as trusts, and trust could not exist under the Sherman law, why did the Republicans in Congress at last session want to amend the constitution so as to enable Congress to grapple with the trusts, and why did they, failing in this, pass a bill making the Sherman law more drastic and mendatory? In view of all these anti-trust talk and the follows from the Washington Post shows how Congress, spurred on by public sentiment, played with the trust question then. The statement is in answer to an inquiry:

"There were two anti-trust bills before the House of Representatives, reported jointly from the Committee on Judiciary at the eleventh hour of the session, when it was well understood they could never be considered by the Senate before adjournment and probably not during the present Congress, as the approaching session will be brief and can give little attention except to appropriation bills. The first was for an amendment to the Constitution specifically authorizing Congress to deal with trusts and to regulate the same. To pass it required a two thirds vote of both House and Senate, after which it must be approved by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the States. The vote was taken in the House on Friday, June 1, when there were 154 votes in favor of the amndment and 131 against it. This was thirty-eight votes short of the requisite two thirds, and accordingly the House failed to adopt the proposed amendment. Five Democrats voted for the ammendment—Campbell of Montana, Naphen of Massachusetts, Scudder of New York, Sibley of Pennsylvania, and Thayer of Massachusetts. Two Republicans voted against it—Mr. Loud of California and Mr. McCall of Massachusetts, the latter furnishing the surprise of the day when he boldly announced his belief that the motive of the amendment was cheap and unworthy the support of any man who regarded the restriction of trusts as a subject for serious legislation.

"The following day, Saturday, June 2d, the House passed the second measure, which provides for the amendment of the Sherman anti-trust law, by a practically unanimous vote, Republicans and Democrats being for it. The only man who voted against it was Representative Mann, a Republican from Chicago. This was generally known as the Littlefield bill, having been drawn by Representative Littlefield, of Maine. It increases the penalties provided under the Sherman law, makes fine or imprisonment imperative in cases of conviction, and likewise makes it mandatory on United States district attorneys to prosecute violations of the law. This bill was pigeon holed by the Republican Senate."

The Democrats, with the few exceptions named, opposed the first bill because they understood it to be mere political play to tide over the Presidential election, and saw that there was not the slightest probability of its ever becoming ratified by the nnecessary number of States, but they supported the second, which had something in it, but the Republican Senate strangled that.

The Chattanooga Times says the St. Louis Republic ought to be ashamed to repeat the story about "Hay surrendering 1,500 miles of United States territory in Alaska to Great Britan." The Times should lose no time in nothing that good Republican organ, the New York Sun, which devoted numerous columns, with a large sprinkling of caloric adjectives, to the denunciation of Hay for that "surrender."

Several days ago a man apparently excited rushed into the police office at Salina, Kansas, and announced that he had just been robbed of a $40 bill. Then the whole force rushed out to hunt up the man who got that $40 bill. After tramping the town over, somebody informed them that there are no $40 bills, and then they went to hunting for the practical joker, who had business out of town and failed to leave his address.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now I am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Troubles. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles 10 cents at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store. Every bottle guaranteed. †

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Durham Herald: Gold, in paying quantities, has been found on the plantation of Mr. John T. Weaver, about two and one-half miles from this side of Chapel Hill.

— Greenville Reflector: Mr. John Dawson, the aged father, of Council Dawson, whose death we announced last Wednesday, also died on Thursday about the time the funeral of the latter was taken place. He was an an invalid and is thought the shock of his sons heath hastened his own. He was 91 years old.

— High Point Enterprise: We learn that Mr. Duncan K. Ray, of 71st, died Friday aged about 57 years. —— There was a very insolent deaf mute begger in town this week. He had some cards on which was printed the alphabet. He would offer these for sale and when he failed to get his dime he would leave one of the cards, on which was written on the back: "If you are too d—d poor to buy, take it free."

— Goldsboro Argus: The negro murderer, Tom Smith, from Johnston county, who was tried and convicted in this county, his trial having been moved here, and sentenced to be hanged, and an appeal taken to the Supreme Court, which sustained the sentence, but recommended the criminal to commutation to life imprison ment, will not be hanged, Governor Russell having adopted the latter course.

— Charlotte Observer: Frank Gardner, a 12-year-old boy who works in the Presbyterian Standard office, will have no trouble in proving a reputation for honesty. As he passed in front of the Carolina Clothing Company's store yesterday afternoon he picked up a pocket book on the pavement and found that it contained one $100 bill, four $10 bills and two $5 bills. He reported the matter to the police. By this time a colored farmer, who rents from Mr. Osmond L. Barringer, was well-nigh beside himself with fright. In the morning he had sold all the cotton he had raised and had received $360 in payment. Half of that amount, which he proposed to turn over to Mr. Barringer, he had placed in the purse, and it had slipped through a hole in a ragged coat. —— Mr. A. L. Beach, of Steel Creek, is enthusiastic over bee-raising. He said yesterday that he had sold this year 2,500 pounds of honey at 9 cents a pound, which had netted him a good profit. Mr. Beach is of the opinion, however, that bee-raising in this part of the country is not as profitable as in the Western part of the State. In Mecklenburg and surrounding counties the forests have been thinned out to such an extent that it is difficult for the bees to find blossoms enough to make an honest living; and to sustain them it is often necessary to plant buckwheat to provide sustenance through buckwheat blossoms.

—— The new fireproof cotton ware house at Williamston, it is reported, will store 1,000 bales; only 25 cents a month is charged for storage; and the local bank will make make a liberal advance, at a reasonable rate, on all cotton stored. Such establishments ought to be very popular with the farmers in every county, and if there was enough of them they should make the cotton growers fairly independent of combination to force low prices at the beginning of each harvest season.—Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—If we may be permitted to borrow from the vernacular of the short-haired gentry, it is not out of place to remark that Gov. Roosevelt is showing up a trifle groggy in the final rounds.—Washington Post, Ind.

—— Bryan's devilish demagogism," is the title of a fervid shriek in the Iowa State Register. It is plain that the German vote of the Middle West is not "warming up" to militarism.—Norfolk Virginian Pilot, Dem.

—— A change of less than 4 per cent in the total vote, it is noted, would reverse the result of 1896 and give Mr. Bryan the Presidency by the same majority which Mr. McKinley received in that year. And Mr. Bryan is unquestionably far stronger now than he was then.—Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

—— There is still a good deal of inquiry as to what the Administration is going to do in the case of Mr. C. F. W. Neely. That matter seems to have been conveniently "hung up" on a question of jurisdiction between the United States and Cuba. It would not be "good politics" to have the case judically exploied before the election.—Cincinnati Enquirer, Dem.

The Sign of the Seal

The seal is a sign of security. It is as old as Assyria. But Assyria never produced a seal that was more significant than "In-er-seal."

It's a seal that means something to everybody who eats. It's the sign of a revolution in the making of biscuit, crackers, and wafers, and of keeping them good after they are made good. Heretofore many of the best products of the baker have lost their goodness before they reached the consumer. The wonderful patent package—distinguished by the sign "In-er-seal," keeps them fresh, crisp and delicious until you want them.

When you buy Soda Biscuit, Milk Biscuit, Butter Crackers, Saltines, Banquet Wafers, Sultana Fruit, Graham Biscuit, Sea Foam, Oatmeal Biscuit, Ginger Snaps, Handmade Pretzelettes, or Vanilla Wafers, insist on getting them in the "In-er-seal Patent Package."

The genuine package is patented and contains only our products. It can always be identified by the design of the "In-er-seal" on each end.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The bears in cotton to day left no stone unturned in an effort to stamp out all signs of bull supremacy, which had obtained for a protracted period until last week's reserves caused extensive desertions from the bull camp. The trade quite generally had anticipated a higher Liverpool market to day and expected to see a turn for the better here. But the English news was fully as unfavorable as that received Saturday, with private cables stating that sentiment abroad had become intensely bearish. Our market followed the Liverpool break with a loss of six to twenty points on the call, the loss later being increased to thirty-five and thirty-eight points, under pressure of long stuff and heavy sales for short account whenever the market showed the least symptoms of reaction. Europe was a leader in the local selling, though Southern interests were not behind. The public hurriedly unloaded cotton accumulated last week on the idea that the market was entitled to a reaction Not until after midday was there the least indication of a lull in the selling movement or a change in the trend of fluctuations. By 2 P. M. the advance from bottom quotations was less than ten points, with parties having profits in sight about the only buyers. The late market was nervous and with prices down to the lowest of the day. The factors which led to the break abroad and here consisted of heavy receipts at all points, enormous export clearances, a decline in Southern spot markets of ¼ to ⅝c, reports that magnificent weather was causing cotton to mature where further outturn had not been expected. Statistics from all quarters were bearish and the attitude of the holders in the South was the reverse of what it has been since the season opened, while exporters seemed to have lost all their fears of a cotton famine in Europe and flatly refused to buy except at emphatic price concessions. Official estimates for continued large receipts and predictions from Washington for unchanged weather conditions during the next thirty-six hours tended to check buying late in the day. The market closed weak at a net loss of thirty-five to thirty-eight points.

THE STALE FISH SUMMER.

An Experience With Frightened Herring in York Harbor, Me.

"The last time I was in York Harbor, Me.," said a Boston man, "was in the summer of 1884. In those days the railroad stopped short at Portsmouth, N. H. —12 miles distant—and the balance of the journey you made by coach. It is one of the most attractive places I have ever visited. But I knew it in its stagecoach days, and prejudice has kept me from returning since the railroad reached out and touched it. It was in this summer that I witnessed one of the most remarkable sights it has ever been my luck to see. York harbor is a beautiful circular bay, into one end of which the river runs. Behind the bluff the river forms a small harbor, and then it decreases rapidly in size as you proceed inland. Two miles above the harbor it is scarcely more than a creek. One evening after supper I had taken a couple of young ladies for a row. Dusk found us about a mile from the hotel on our way home. As I was rowing, my back was to the stream. Suddenly the girl steering cried out, 'Gracious me, what's that?'

"Turning, I saw in the gloaming what seemed a wall of phosphorescent water some two feet high. It was rushing toward us, and thinking it must be a tidal wave or something of that kind I grabbed for the oars. There was no time to reach the shore, so I held the boat head on to the advancing wave, at the same time warning my companions to sit perfectly still. In a second it struck us, and it struck us hard. Fish in twos and threes began to jump into the boat, and the frightened girls, screaming, jumped on the thwarts. I implored them to sit down and to keep perfectly still, for the boat rocked fearfully, and we were in imminent danger of upsetting.

"The river was covered with fish from bank to bank, like a gigantic sardine box, and if we had ever gone over among them knowledge of swimming would not have been of the slightest use. The girls finally quieted down, and we were able to watch the spectacle without fear. It was the strangest of sights. Down the stream to the bay the river seemed a mass of living, leaping quicksilver. The head of the line was 100 yards beyond us, a moving, living line of light. Fish by the score jumped into the boat and kept us busy pitching them out. I thrust my oar down into the water, and you could feel their bodies leaping against its entire length. Finally, however, the stream cleared enough for me to row again, and we returned to our hotel.

"The explanation of the phenomenon was comparatively simple," the narrator went on. "Herring have a deadly enemy called, I think, monk fish. They hunt them in schools and destroy the herring by hundreds. When the monk fish get after them, the herring run for it as their only means of escape. A school of herring had been chased into the outer harbor. The monk fish blocked their way back to the sea. Then the herring found the way into the river, and the whole frightened school tore through and up the stream in their wild effort to escape. They died there by thousands.

"The next morning the plot in front of the Marshall House was silvered with their bodies, and both shores of the river for miles presented a similar appearance. Farmers all over the country came there and took the fish away by the cartload to use as fertilizer. But there were fish enough to have fertilized New England, and presently they began to decay. The people stood it for a day or two, but by that time they smelt to high heaven, and every one that could fled as from the bubonic plague. I couldn't and had to stay through.

"It was an awful experience. The water in the river ran like glue and so impregnated the water of the outer bay that bathing for awhile was out of the question. You ate, drank, slept and cursed fish. Fish were in the clear weather and in the storm. The summer of 1884 at York Harbor has since been known as the stale fish summer."—New York Tribune.

Sympathy on Tap.

"When I hear people describe the nervous strain caused by their work," said a dentist, "I wonder how it compares with that of the young woman assistant. No one expects a dentist to be sympathetic, but curiously enough every one of my patients demands sympathy from my assistant. Can you imagine what a strain that is on her nerves? She must graduate her sympathy in accordance with the sufferings of the patient, and from long experience she has come to be a good judge of character.

"I have just had a big athletic fellow here who had some painful work to be done. It was his first experience in a dentist's chair, and he made a good deal of unnecessary fuss about it. My assistant sized him up. 'Dear, dear,' she said impersonally. 'I don't see how he stands it so well. It is very painful.' As a matter of fact it was not so very painful then, but the big man thought he was a hero. He quieted down, and later when I was working around a nerve he perspired freely, but never even groaned.

"My assistant has to have sympathy on tap all day long, and it must either be the real article or a very good counterfeit of it. Now, wouldn't you call that nerve trying work?"—New York Sun.

An Egg Trick.

Speaking of the tricks of his trade, Paul Cinquevalli, the king of jugglers, said that catching an egg on a plate without breaking it is a feat which has elicited as much applause as curiosity as to how it is done.

"It is easy enough when you know how," says Mr. Cinquevalli, "and if you practice it sufficiently. Most people will tell you that if you want to deaden the force of a falling object you must 'give with it' in exactly the same way as one catches a cricket ball.

"Try to catch an egg on a plate by 'giving with it' and you will break the egg every time. The way to do it is to hold the plate sideways and, judging the fall of the egg, bring the plate up to it so as to touch it sideways. Then suddenly turn the plate round so as to bring it horizontal, and the egg will be made to rest on the plate without any trouble."—Pearson's Weekly.

Her Triumph.

Two little Scotch girls were talking of their respective fathers who had both been in the army.

"Ma faither's got the Victoria cross," boasted one. "The queen pinned it on him with her ain hand."

"Ah," retorted the other, "ma faither's been in dozens of wars, an he's got gangs and gangs of medals and Victoria crosses. An he's got a bonnie wooden leg, an" —with a shrill shriek of triumph—"the queen nailed it an wi' her ain hand!"

No Right To Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin and rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run down invalid. Only 50 cents at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store.

CASHING DRAFTS ABROAD.

Easy Banking Methods Which Cause Americans Much Surprise.

"The continental banking methods are a great surprise to Americans," said a resident of New Orleans who has just returned from a trip abroad. "When I was in Paris last month, I met a friend one day who had an English draft for £100 on one of the largest banks in the city and wanted to get the money. He had nobody to identify him, but said, half jokingly, that he was going to try for it anyhow, and we went to the place together.

"We were shown up stairs to a large reception room set aside especially for customers, and presently a messenger came in and took the draft. About a dozen other people were also waiting in the room, and after a delay of about ten minutes a well dressed young gentleman came to the door and bawled out in a loud voice, 'Mr. John Smith!' My friend (call him John Smith for short) got up and was handed a bundle of bank notes. No questions were asked.

"I was astonished, and in going out I took occasion to ask the well dressed young gentleman whether the bank wasn't taking desperate chances doing business in that catch as catch can fashion. 'And why?' he inquired, opening his eyes. I tried to explain, and he shrugged his shoulders. 'We have never had any losses,' he said."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Greatest Knitters In the World.

All the women of Shetland knit. They learn the art in early childhood and continue it all through their lives. The wool used for their knitting is grown on the islands and is carded and spun by the people themselves. Machinery they have not except the primitive spinning wheel. Many of the most elaborate shawls have taken months to make and some even years, so that a very fine shawl may be worth as much as $150 or $200. Most of the knitting is, however, of the more homely and serviceable kind and may be bought from the women themselves for a very moderate price.

The manner in which the washing of knit shawls is accomplished in Shetland is a matter of interest to most visitors. They are washed carefully in soap lather, and then to prevent their shrinking they are laced from point to point of the scalloped border in a large square wooden frame and placed outside the cottage to dry.—Chicago News.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 16.

BRYAN'S VISIT TO NEW YORK.

Arrangements for His Reception in the City To-day—Mounted Police Escort to Be in Attendance.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, October 15.—Chief Devery, of the Police Department, announced to-day his programme for arrangements for the reception of Wm J. Bryan in this city to morrow. The mounted escort of twenty six policemen will meet Colonel Bryan at the Grand Central station and conduct him to the Hoffman House. This escort will be in attendance on Colonel Bryan during the day and evening. One hundred patrolmen will keep the streets in the vicinity of the Hoffman House clear of the crowd.

The mounted escort will conduct the candidate and committee to Madison Square Garden in the evening. During the meeting nineteen captains and 585 patrolmen will be in the vicinity of the garden.

There will be four telephone booths in the garden connecting direct with police headquarters and additional telephone booths at Tammany Hall, Cooper Union and at the overflow meetings at Twenty-fourth street and Madison avenue. An emergency hospital will also be established in the basement of the garden. After the meeting at the garden, Colonel Bryan will be escorted to Tammany Hall and while he is speaking at the latter place, an inspector in command of four hundred patrolmen will be within easy distance on Irving Place. Similar arrangements, on a smaller scale, have been made for the Cooper Union meeting. All precincts and sections are ordered on duty to-morrow night.

The general order issued by the chief provides that the men under no circumstances shall have their batons in their hands except in case of self-defence and emergency. All police will wear white gloves and will not show any arms of any sort unless ordered to do so by superior officers.

Croker's Denial.

NEW YORK, October 15.—Richard Croker to-day emphatically denied the story that $50,000 has been contributed by him as coming from Tammany Hall, to the Democratic National Committee. "This committee has not given one single dollar," he said, "to either the Democratic State or the Democratic National Committees. It is not true," he continued, "that the dinner for Bryan to-morrow night is to cost $50 a plate. It will cost $5 a plate."

AMEICAN TROOPS IN PEKIN.

Their Unexampled Conduct Has Given Gen. Chaffee Great Influence at the Meetings of the Allies.

[Correspondence of Associated Press.]

PEKIN, September 15.—In a campaign like the present, where the troops of so many nations have met and watched one another's pecularities and characteristics, the conduct of the troops of any one nation as a whole is especially interesting to watch, and America can proudly boast that the men representing her in China have proved themselves the equal if not the superior of any troops in China.

The unexampled conduct of Americans has given General Chaffee an influence at the meetings of generals which are held every other day ahead of that of any other general. It is not disparaging either General Chaffee's hard common sense, which, according to other generals, has helped them solve many a knotty problem, nor his personal popularity both among the diplomats and the generals, but it is unquestionable that his influence has been greatly increased through being the leader of a body of men who have distinguished themselves not only in the face of the enemy, but equally so as against the temptations that exist in a city like Pekin under existing conditions.

It is also said among foreign officers that the workings of the adjutant general's office of the Americans is much quicker a d much more satisfactory than that of any other nation, and probably the best known and liked officer of the American officers among foreign officials, with the exception of General Chaffee, is his adjutant general, Captain Hutchinson, Sixth cavalry.

LONDON, October 15.—Dr. Morrison, in the Times, describes the occupation of Pekin and the demonstration in the Forbidden City. In connection with the latter incident he emphasizes the self-denial of General Chaffee, which has not received, he says, proper recognition.

The American troops on the 15th, the correspondent remarks, "fought their way, driving the Chinese in front of them, to the gateway. There was no agreement to hold General Chaffee back, He might have passed on, taken the palace and hoisted the Stars and Stripes. It would have been a fine prize and the temptation must have been great, but General Chaffee, possibly acting under Mr. Conger's advice, refrained. It was a noteworthy act.

AMERICANS RESCUED.

Capt. Shields and Forty-eight Men of the Twenty-ninth U. S. Volunteers.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, October 15.—The following official account of the rescue of Captain Shields and his command from the Filipinos has been received at the War Department:

"To Adjutant General, Washington: Information from Marinduque just received that Captain Shields and forty-eight men of Company F, 29th regiment United States volunteer infantry; two corporals of Company A, 29th regiment; one civilian, one American negro—prisoners in hands of insurgents—have been turned over to General L. R. Hare.

"More particulars soon, giving names of killed and wounded.

DEFEATED IMPERIAL TROOPS.

Anxious to Conciliate the Villagers and Gain the Respect of Foreigners—Li Hung Chang on His Way to Pekin—The Emperor

By Cable to the Morning Star.

HONG KONG, October 15.—A column of troops was dispatched this morning to the Kowloon frontier with the object of barring armed refugees, either rebels or Imperial troops, from entering British territory when defeated.

The rebels are reported to be 3,000 strong, thirty miles north of the British frontier. A thousand of Admiral Ho's troops are in pursuit of them, while 2,000 Chinese troops have left Canton overland to intercept the rebels.

Admiral Ho informed the governor that the rebellion was carefully planned. The rebels are anxious to conciliate the villagers and gain the respect of foreigners, hence the absence of outrage and pillage. All indications point to the rising being widespread. Outbreaks occurred simultaneously in several centers of Kwang Tung and Kwang Si. Apparently Kang Yu Wei, Sun Yat Sen and the Triads have amalgamated their forces in the common cause, the overthrow of Manchu rule in South China.

Some positive indication of the attitude of the foreign powers is anxiously awaited.

A French launch was captured by pirates, October 13th near Mong Chow. The pirates secured $32,000 in specie.

Germany's Answer to France.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—The Berlin Neuste Nachrichten says it understands that Germany's answer to the note of M. DelCasse, French minister of foreign affairs, was dispatched to day, that it is in a friendly tone and that it raises no objection to the principles enunciated by M. DelCasse. The paper does not assert that the reply deals with all his propositions.

The Associated Press learns that the Chinese minister to Russia who visited Emperor Nicholas yesterday, strongly appealed for the intercession of the Czar in China's favor and presented to him a letter from Emperor Kwang Su, together with documentary evidence tending to show that the Chinese ruler and court are less to blame for the anti-foreign outbreak than the Russian Emperor had been led to believe.

Li Hung Chang.

PEKIN, October 10.—Li Hung Chang has arrived at Tung Chow, escorted by Russians. It is expected that he will arrive here to-morrow.

BERLIN, October 15.—A dispatch received here from Shanghai says the British consul there warns European women against coming north from Hong Kong in the hope of joining their husbands, the situation in the Yang Tse valley being very serious.

Imperial Troops Defeated.

HONG KONG, October 15.—Sun-Yat-Sen, according to reports from Canton, has taken the town of Kiushan, on East River and is now investing the prefectural city of Hiuchou.

A force of Imperial troops from Canton was defeated by the reformers, two hundred being killed.

The advices say also that there is great activity in Canton in preparations for dispatching troops to the disturbed districts.

The Hague Conference.

PARIS, October 15.—It is officially understood that if an international conference at The Hague, regarding the settlement of the Chinese indemnity question is finally decided upon, it will not discuss with China the amount of compensation she must pay, but will confine its labors to fixing and distributing the proportion of the indemnity which shall go to the several countries interested.

TIEN TSIN, October 15.—The British column under Lord Campbell which forms a part of the expedition against Pao Ting Fu and is making a detour to the south of the Pao Ting river, reached Luliu on the Grand canal yesterday.

Prince Tuan Still in Power.

LONDON, October 16.—"Since the Chinese court arrived at the new capitol, Sian Fu," says a special dispatch from Shanghai, dated yesterday, "reactionary edicts removing the moderates from high offices have been issued, showing that Prince Tuan holds the imperial seal."

The Daily Chronicle gives the following from Vienna: "None of the powers except France and the United States approve the Russian proposal to carry the claims for indemnity against China to the arbitration tribunal at The Hague.

IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Renewed Activity of the Boers—Lord Roberts Postpones His Departure for England.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, October 16.—The Durban correspondent of the Standard, wiring yesterday, says:

"Railway communication north of Slanderton was suspended Thursday. There are persistent rumors of Boer attacks on the railway. Considerable uneasiness has been caused by the postponement of Lord Robert's departure.

CAPE TOWN, October 15.—Lord Roberts has ordered that the return of refugees to the Transvaal colony be postponed for the present.

LONDON, October 15.—Commenting upon the activity of the Boers and the statement from Cape Town that Lord Roberts has postponed his home coming, the Standard says:

"There are certain indications pointing to the conclusion that unexpected difficulties have arisen which Lord Roberts deems grave enough to demand his presence for some time to come. All the facts suggest that it is impossible yet to denude South Africa of any substantial portion of the large army now engaged in dominating a sullen and recalcitrant population."

The editorial finally calls for the severest measures against irreconcilable Boers—"prompt and ruthless punishment for every insurgent burgher caught in delicto."

The editorial concludes with the statement that "the Imperial government has the country's mandate and need not be afraid to act vigorously."

COAL MINERS' STRIKE.

Another Serious Obstacle to a Speedy Settlement—Troops Are Sent to Panther Creek.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SCRANTON, PA., October 15.—President Mitchell and the others of the strike leaders who remained over Sunday in this city, left for Hazelton this afternoon. Before leaving he settled effectually the dispute as to whether or not the resolutions contemplate that the operators' offer must also be amended by striking off the codicil that the decrease in powder is to be computed in figuring the advance in wages."

"The advance must be a flat one," said Mr. Mitchell. "Where powder is being sold for $2.75 a keg, the excessive charge will be one of the grievances that the company will be called upon to take up when the men are accorded the conferences that their respective employers agreed in the posted notices to give them on their return to work."

In the face of the pronounced declaration of the operators that the offer must be accepted as it stands, this is regarded here as another serious obstacle to a speedy settlement.

SHENANDOAH, PA., October 15.—Advices have reached General Corbin, in command of the State troops here, that a large body of marching strikers have left McAdoo for the Panther Creek region. They expect to reach that valley in time to intorcept the miners on their way to work in the morning. General Corbin ordered six companies of the Fourth regiment to leave to-night for that valley and a special train on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad to take them to Lamaqua, which station is but a few miles from Coaldale. Gen. Gobin went to the troops and assumed personal command.

The Governor's troop of cavalry, which is stationed at Oneida, will leave for the Panther Creek region early in the morning.

STEVENSON IN NEW JERSEY.

The Democratic Candidate for Vice President Addressed Large Audiences at Camden and Other Places.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BRIDGETON, N. J., Oct. 15.—The first touch of life was given the campaign here on the arrival of Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, who arrived here shortly after noon.

Mr. Stevenson dealt with the trusts and imperialism. He pronounced imperialism as the paramount, overshadowing issue of the campaign. Speaking of trusts, he said:

"The trust evil is the greatest evil of this country. In three years over six hundred trusts have grown to the capital of $10,000,000,000, competition has been cut off and there is no chance for small capital. You have been told there are no trusts or that the trusts were good trusts. I am inclined to think the good trusts, like the good Indians, are all dead. When they talk of four more years of prosperity, I am in favor of four more years of prosperity for the common people and not trusts. The growth of these corporations has been so alarming that there must be stringent laws against them. Into whose hands will you put the enactment of these laws? Under whom have they grown or who is opposed to the trusts and to whom are the trusts opposed? The Democratic party? The interests of your families and of the trusts are not identical with the interests of the men who have built up these enormous corporations."

CAMDEN, N. J., October 15.—Adlai Stevenson concluded his tour of South Jersey by his addressing a large meeting in the court house. Five thousand persons were unable to obtain admittance. Mr. Stevenson remained in Camden over night.

THE GOEBEL MURDER.

Trial of Henry Youtsey, One of the Alleged Principals, Resumed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

GEORGETOWN, KY., Oct. 15.—The trial of Henry E. Youtsey, charged with being a principal in the killing of Gov ernor Goebel, was resumed to-day, although Youtsey was reported in the same condition as last week. His door was opened and his bed pulled up in plain view and hearing of the jury, and the witnesses were examined. Youtsey could be heard calling his wife's name in a hollow moaning voice and could be seen to be sitting on his bed.

The feature of the day was the testimony of Arthur Goebel, brother of the dead Governor.

After a protracted argument Judge Cantrill to day overruled a motion for a further continuance in the case of Henry E. Youtsey, charged with being a principal in the shooting of Governor Goebel. Attorneys for the defence declared that Youtsey is in a serious condition, but the prosecution held that Youtsey is able to hear, understand and reason, but that he cannot always talk.

Judge Cantrill, overruling the motion, said that all the rights of the defendant will be preserved under the law. He said he had no discretion in the matter and that the trial must proceed.

IN THE HEART OF M'KINLEY'S STATE

Bryan Wound Up His Tour of the State of Ohio With Addresses at Cleveland

TO TWO LARGE AUDIENCES.

Speeches Made During the Day at Canton and Niles - Spoke Twice at Youngstown to Thousands of People Made a Fine Impression

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

CLEVELAND, O., October 15.—Wm. J. Bryan arrived here at 5.40 this evening and later addressed two large audiences in this city—one at the Central Armory and the other from the balcony of the Holleden Hotel. He was greeted upon his entrance into the city by a number of marching clubs and brass bands, which formed his escort to the Holleden, where he took dinner. The streets of the city were brilliantly lighted, and they were lined with people.

Mr. Bryan to day invaded the heart of President McKinley's and Senator Hanna's country. Leaving Akron early in the morning his first stop was at Canton, the President's place of residence, and later in the day he made a brief speech at Niles, the President's native city. At night he spoke at Cleveland, Senator Hanna's home. The stops at Canton and Niles were incidental and the crowds were small at both places.

The only important day meetings were those at New Philadelphia and Youngstown. At New Philadelphia there was a big attendance and the meeting was an enthusiastic one. There were two meetings at Youngstown, one in the public square and the other at the Opera House.

A stop of fifteen minutes was made at Niles, the birthplace of President McKinley. Mr. Bryan did not leave the train at that point, but reviewed the issues of the campaign in a very brief manner to a comparatively small number of people at the railroad station.

Mr. Bryan spoke twice at Youngstown, first in the public square and then in the Opera House. People had been coming into the city from Ohio and Pennsylvania all day, so when Mr. Bryan arrived at 2.20 in the afternoon all the principal streets were crowded and the square around the speaker's stand, possibly four hundred feet on each side, was densely packed with people struggling to get near the platform and to secure a glimpse of the lion of the occasion. There was no effort to create trouble, but the natural hum of the thousands of voices and the struggle for place was such as to almost destroy the effect of the speech.

At 9.30 P. M., Mr. Bryan having concluded his speech at the Central Armory, appeared on the Hollenden Hotel balcony, where he was introduced by Tom L. Johnson. The presidential candidate was greeted here by tremendous cheering, which continued for several moments. He spoke briefly, discussing "imperialism" and trusts.

Probably 25,000 people were packed together in the immediate vicinity of the hotel while Mr. Bryan made his second address of the evening.

Mr. Bryan left to-night at 10.30 for New York. His especial car, "The Rambler," was attached to a regular train on the Lake Shore road due to arrive in New York at 8.35 to morrow morning. The train will make only the regular stops on the way and it is not Mr. Bryan's purpose to make any speeches en route.

FOR GALVESTON SUFFERERS.

Bazaar Opened in New York Last Night at the Waldorf Astoria.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The bazaar for the Galveston homeless orphans was opened to-night in the large ball room of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel by General Nelson A. Miles. There was a large attendance.

General Miles introduced Governor Sayers, of Texas, who graphically described the Galveston disaster.

Mrs. William McKinley, wife of the President, sent the following telegram: "Your telegram has been received informing me of the opening of the charity bazaar under the auspices of the women of America for the relief of the sufferers from the Galveston disaster. Please assure those in charge of this noble charity of my deep interest and my best wishes for its success."

Following Governor Sayers, General Wheeler also spoke briefly.

Senator Bacon, of Georgia, was the principal speaker at a Democratic mass meeting in Baltimore last night. The hall was crowded and the reception given the Senator was enthusiastic.

Miss Gast, in New York, completed her ride of 2,000 miles at 7.05½ yesterday evening. She covered the distance in 222 hours, 54 minutes, beating the record of Will Brown by three hours and one minute.

In the preliminary trial of ex-Fire Chief B. F. H. Bowers, of Key West, Fla., who killed Mrs. Charlotte Knowles, in her home in that city last week, Judge Kemp dismissed the charge of murder and held the prisoner only on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He gave bond and was liberated.

ELABORATE PREPARATIONS.

Demonstration in New York This Evening in Honor of Wm. J. Bryan.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, October 15.—To-morrow night will occur the demonstration in this city in honor of William J. Bryan. Preparations of a most elaborate character have been made, with the idea of making the reception to be tendered the Democratic presidential nominee the most spectacular and most memorable welcome ever extended to a candidate for political honors in the history of America.

There will be meetings at Madison Square Garden, Cooper Union and Tammany Hall, and a number of open air gatherings.

The Bryan ratification committee held a meeting to-night to perfect details. Mr. Croker, in an interview, said: "The Republicans have been trying to throw cold water on this meeting. We'll show them what the people think of Bryan. It will be the biggest thing that has happened in this city for years. There'll be a lot of lies told about the matter, but the people will see for themselves."
